Personal Interaction by Chairperson, NCW with NRI Complainants

National Commission for Women has been designated as National Coordinating Agency by the Government of India in April, 2009 for coordinating the efforts by different stakeholders in dealing with the issues arising from NRI marriages. As a result of that, a specialized Cell has been created to deal with the complaints of women aggrieved on account of NRI marriages called as Non-resident Indian Cell in 2009. NRI Cell receives complaint from across the country and the complainants are facilitated in their legal recourse through inter-agency convergence of services and interventions from different stakeholders such as police, line Ministries, Indian Embassies and Missions and the voluntary organizations.

In order to provide opportunity to the complainants to address their grievances in person, Hon'ble Chairperson has decided to hold meeting with them every Monday from 3 PM to 4 PM. These are walk-in meetings and no prior appointment is required. The complainants who would be coming with new complaint are requested to bring following documents along:
